C. W. COOLIDGE,

ARTHUR R. SHIRLEY,

Road Agents.

AUDITORS' CERTIFICATE.

Conway, N. H., Feb. 21, 1903.

We hereby certify that we have examined the accounts of the Road Agents of the town of Conway for the fiscal year ending Feb. 15, 1903, and find them to be correct, with proper vouchers on file for the full amount paid out by them.

HENRY B. COTTON,

HIRAM H. DOW,

Auditors of Conway.

SPECIAL APPROPRIATIONS.

On account of the continuous rains last Summer and Fall, it was impossible to build the foundations for the new bridge at Conway; but the material has been hauled, and we (the Selectmen) have advanced on a bond the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars for the same, leaving at the present five hundred and fifty dollars, the balance of the special appropriation, in the treasury for future use on the structure.

The special appropriation for draining part of Main and Kennett streets at Conway Village, was not all used, and a balance of one hundred and fifty-one dollars and eighty-three cents remains in the treasury.

In conformity with the instructions contained in a vote of the town, passed at the last annual meeting, relating to the Common Lands in the town, we have made all the investigation as to the town's rights in said lands that we could under the circumstances. We have been informed by legal counsel that there has never been any judicial determination of the question of the towns' rights, if any, in the lands in question. There are several cases now pending in Superior Court for this County, which we are informed are going on appeal to the Superior Court, to be determined there. In the determination of these suits the question of the town's title to these lands will be involved and incidentally determined. We therefore would recommend that no further action be taken in relation to this matter, at least for the present.

Respectfully submitted,

I. H. DAVIS,
JOHN F. STOTT,
C. F. WATERHOUSE,
Selectmen of Conway.

HENRY B. COTTON,

HIRAM H. DOW,

Auditors of the School District of Conway.

School Committee's Report.

Of course the first and main matter of consideration as to the town's schools, is their efficiency in educating their pupils in the branches set down as coming within the schools' scope.

And in this regard, we speak with confidence: probably many persons who were taught after the old-fashioned methods that prevailed forty years ago, would be amazed to know of the excellent work done by the children in the primary schools. Recently the Clerk of the School Board was shown a set of papers (it is only fair to say that they were from the Conway Center primary school) in which the children were trying the practice of composition, and they were really admirable in all respects, when the age of the pupils was taken into account. The children had first read the story of Bishop Hatto and his mouse-tower in the Rhine, and then re-told it in their own words; there were few errors in spelling, the handwriting was as plain as print, and the style of composition by no means an imitation of the author's. On the contrary, it was markedly individual, not lacking in a unique kind of terseness that reflected the child spirit.

But the old-fashioned theory was that the ability to "figger" should be the corner-stone in any plan of education, and modern theory has not displaced it (only rated some few other things as being of almost equal importance). It is both surprising and delightful to see the ease and quickness with which our primary pupils "do their number work," (i. e., perform the rudimentary operations of arithmetic—add, subtract, multiply and divide,) and the reasoning that shows their good training in the elements of mental arithmetic.

Five pupils were graduated from the grammar school course last June: Mamie Roberts and Linnie Sargent at East Conway, Agnes Seavey at Center Conway, John Seery at Conway, Freeman Davis at North Conway.)

Our grammar school course completed, gives the pupils the additional equivalent of a year's study at an academy or high school: Esther Hill, Arvesta Tibbetts, Lloyd Riley, Freeman Davis, all were allowed to enter upon the second year's work of the high schools they are attending. These had finished our grammar school course; while James Hill and Edward Mudgett who would have had one year's more work to complete it, were last Fall admitted to the Freshman classes of Fryeburg Academy and Brewster Academy respectively.

Edwin H. Lord, A. M., Principal of Brewster Free Academy, recently wrote to a member of the School Committee; "I have received a very favorable impression of your grammar school from the pupils from it who have applied for admission to our Academy. * * * They have been well prepared, and above the average of our applicants in the quality of their training."

In leaving this part of the subject, we extend to the fathers and mothers and every citizen who takes an interest in the continued improvement of our schools, the same, old, urgent invitation, do visit the schools.

Redstone grammar school has been presented with a pretty landscape in black and white (neatly framed) by Miss Bowers, the former teacher; Mrs. Blouin gave a half dozen pictures, at Christmas time, to the Conway Center grammar and primary-intermediate schools; Dr. Buzzell has placed a suitably framed portrait of the late President McKinley in the grammar school at Conway, as a companion-piece to the historical pictures given last year by Mrs. Fifield.

At North Conway, a valuable gift has been made to Mrs. Mason for the village schools. Mrs. Huidekoper, a summer resident of Intervale, contributed about fifty books, for the beginning of a school library, and Mrs. Currie (another summer resident at Intervale) has given twenty dollars for the same purpose. The books will be placed in the book closet, ready for use next term. They are to be used during term-time only;

as the teachers are to have charge of them. (As the North Conway Library is now a free public library, the school children can have plenty to reading, during vacations, for asking.)

Through the efforts of teachers and pupils of the North Conway Village school, a concert was given at the close of the spring term last June, to raise money to buy dictionaries for the grammar and intermediate schools. Eighteen dollars were realized, and two latest unabridged dictionaries were bought, and it is still more gratifying to record that the pupils really use them.

Mr. N. W. Pease may be said to have rehabilitated a portrait of Christopher Columbus bought by the No. 8 school, and placed in the old school-house at an observance of "Columbus Day," under the regime of the late Rev. R. Henry Davis (at that time the North Conway member of the School Board). The picture was in shabby case, but is now a handsome ornament in the grammar school room. The first year that the present Clerk of the School Board was a member of that body, she used to ask public-spirited citizens to speak on Friday afternoons, to the scholars on some instructive subject, of the speaker's own choosing. Mr. Pease gave an interesting talk on the growth of the United States, with respect to the addition of States and Territories, and he brought with him to illustrate his talk, a fine map in a substantial case, leaving it as a gift to the school, where it—with the Columbus picture—is a tangible proof of genuine interest in the school's welfare (We believe it has never been acknowledged before).

The school is indebted to Mr. George Warren Marden for a delightful Decoration Day address last spring. He obligingly came to the school in his soldier's clothes and gave us reminiscences of his several meetings with Lincoln, and a graphic description of the battle of Gettysburg.

When (through the public-spirited offices of the late F. B. Osgood, Esq.,) the old bell that once hung in the tower of the old-time North Conway Academy was brought back from Bartlett, where it had been for some years, and placed in the belfry of the village school-house, the pupils of that school voted to expend what money was left - after five dollars of the sum they had given was paid to the Bartlett claimant of the bell—for maps for the three school-rooms. Mr. George, the former principal of the grammar school, made good terms for them, and three maps in strong cases, is another of the pupils' gifts.

Mrs. George H. Shedd has presented a useful framed map to the grammar school. Mr. T. E. M. White has given a half dozen Humane Calendars (published by the Rhode Island Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) for different schools of the town, and Mrs. Mason (of the School Committee) has paid twelve dollars and fifty cents for hiring an assistant in the North Conway grammar school. The last item seems so absurd that a word of explanation is really called for.

At the last Fall term there were more than fifty scholars in the grammar school at North Conway. The teacher was overworked, but the School Board wished to lengthen the school year of the district, if possible, and therefore preferred not to incur an unusual expense for the advantage of one school only. "The Woman's Educational League" of North Conway is a society that was formed after the abandonment of the new academy scheme (originated by the late Rev. R. Henry Davis) and the funds of the several organizations to further that enterprise were appropriated to the new organization. (It should be said that Mrs. Mason was chairman of a committee that had contributed about $200 to those funds.)

This later society was formed (as its Constitution sets forth) "for the purpose of advancing the interests of education in the higher branches in the public schools of North Conway." At the annual meeting a vote was passed that the League should appropriate a sum of money and hire an assistant teacher for the grammar school for the remainder of the school year, and Mrs. Mason was appointed to attend to the execution of the vote. This was on the 21st of October, and a young lady who could board at home, and was to teach forenoons only, was hired for $2.50 per week and began work the next week. She taught for five weeks, until the end of the term, when a notice was sent to Mrs. Mason, that read: "You are hereby notified that the votes passed at a meeting of the Woman's Educational League, held Oct. 21st, 1902, * * * were rescinded at an adjournment of said meeting held on Nov. 25th, 1902. Therefore the League does not hold itself responsible for the payment of said assistant."

We have practised the utmost economy of expenditure in all cases where it would not have been inconsistent with the wellbeing of the schools. In the Conway Center section of the School District Mrs. Blouin has managed to, thus far, dispense with the purchase of new School Readers, though at Conway and North Conway a change was made two years ago. An unusual bill for books is that of Physical Geographies for the North Conway grammar school. Mrs. Mason learned that our pupils should be taught Physical Geography, to gain entrance to advanced classes, if they wished to pursue a further course of study, so it was thought best to provide for that requirement. Fine modern maps, costing $33, have been bought for the Conway village school-house. Our total expenses for school supplies for the year have been $300. As there are six hundred (lacking four) pupils enrolled, this does not seem exorbitant.

We try to keep the pupils supplied with the best textbooks, so far as we are able to do so. To this end we last year exchanged Raub's for Milne's Arithmetics. The latter work is designed to teach the processes used in practical business life, and is not cumbered with unpractical matter. Next year, the geographies in use should be exchanged for a kind with better maps, and more of the modern requirements in the text. We need, not only advanced intelligence in teachers, but improved methods of instruction along with it.

At North Conway, the transportation route has been shortened, so that instead of the school conveyance being driven from North Conway to Intervale and around by Kearsarge to the North Conway school-house, it is driven from North Conway to Intervale and back, only. The judgment of the School Committee has been that the expense of transportation should be incurred only for those neighborhoods where a school was ~~once~~ provided and is now dispensed with. Kearsarge has a small school, so at the beginning of the Fall term the route there was discontinued and the price of transportation reduced from $8 to $5.50 per week.

The work that should have been done on the South Conway school-house last year, we were unable to get done for want of workmen. The outside of the Conway Village school-house has been re-painted, and the interior of the East Conway school-house freshened and given a lighter coloring, transforming it into a most pleasant and attractive school-room. Slate black-boards add to the pleasant aspect. They were also bought for the Conway school.

This year the finish on the building should be painted at the McMillan school-house; the interior of No. 8 school-house needs considerable furbishing, some changes and improvements are desirable at Echo Lake school, and there are always various unexpected wants. But so large an appropriation for repairs as usual is not necessary, and we ask that the sum of $200 be raised for repairs on school-houses.

It is imperative that an assistant teacher be provided for the North Conway grammar school this year, unless we are to drop back from the present high standard of teaching maintained in the town. One teacher cannot properly teach the classes in this school of from forty to fifty pupils, and there is no sense or reason in demanding it. If we continue to demand it, soon no first-class teacher will accept the position of teacher there.

It is necessary that there be another school in the Conway Village school-house. The primary room is overcrowded, and so also is the intermediate school. It is thought best to remove one grade from the primary school to the intermediate, and two classes from the present intermediate to the new school. There would then be a first and second primary school, besides the intermediate and grammar schools, in the building.

And the School Committee would like to lengthen—somewhat at least—our school year. We earnestly urge the appropriation of $2500 for the support of schools this year.

We shall have to pay $40 for insurance on the Conway

Village school-house, this year; $20 on the Redstone school-house; $20 for water tax at the North Conway Village school-house; $10 for water tax at the Conway Village school-house. We have over-run our last year's appropriation for water tax and insurance on school buildings, by paying a bill of $110 to that account, and there is an unpaid bill of $10 coming under that head. We therefore ask that $110 be raised for water tax and insurance on school buildings.

We would recommend that the sum of $100 be appropriated to buy the furniture in the recitation room at No. 8 school-house. This is now the property of the Woman's Educational League, but as it will be necessary to use the room in connection with the work of the grammar school, it would seem best that the town should own the furniture.

During the coldest weather of the winter term, it was necessary to set up a stove to make the primary school-room at Conway Center warm enough for use. At No. 8 school-house there could have been no school kept this winter if a large box stove had not been set up in the hallway of the building. In a year or two, at most, the "Ventilating and Heating Apparatus" that was provided will have to be given up for something that will really warm the school house in cold weather. However scientific may be the theory of heating rooms by means of hot air registers high up on the walls, and cold air registers to supply fresh air, set in the floor, in practice, at No. 8, it has proved a dismal failure. From the time of the first term that was kept in the new school-house, it has been a failure. With 125 children (more or less) in the building, the only provision for them to warm their feet and hands was at a small register in the floor of the hall-way, which was a hot air register and not a cold air one, like those in the school rooms. As the walls are fifteen feet high, the hot air registers, set high up, were not available for warming hands or feet!

The first two winters that this furnace was used, its smoking made staying in the grammar school-room well nigh an impossibility. Finally, Mr. John D. Ayer, the then principal, planned and built a cold air box in the basement, which helped matters a good deal, but while the smoke subsided, the cold rose (literally). It is charged that the fault has been in mismanagement, and a want of understanding of the workings of the machinery of the Ventilating and Heating Apparatus. Perhaps this is so. We have tried several plans with the view of keeping the children comfortable, but nothing has availed, and we humbly submit that no less qualification than that of Doctor of Science could insure that a person was capable of making it do what it was put into the building to do.

During the winter term of a year ago, Mr. Fifield and Mrs. Blouin had the hot air registers in the grammar and the intermediate school-rooms taken down from the walls, and the piping so changed that hot air came up through the floor registers. The same change was made in the primary school-room this winter, and with the help of the box stove (which has more than paid for itself in the saving of wood for heating the building), the condition has been tolerable, except in the very worst weather.

Last summer a man was sent from the Smith & Anthony Co., (the firm that put in the furnace) Boston, to see if there was anything to offer in the premises. He visited the school-house, in company with the principal of the school, and afterwards a letter was sent to the School Board from Smith & Anthony Co. We were advised that the "cost of replacing the plant would be anywhere from $80 to $100, and the suggestion was made that the man who changed it put it back into its original condition. "Then you can have one of our heating men come up after cold weather begins, and stay a couple of days and show its workings. We believe it would warm the rooms to 70 degrees in zero weather, and that you could get heat out of the floor register in the hall was sufficient for the purpose," the letter said.

As it has never been possible to keep the heat at 60 degrees (though at the same time the temperature in the basement ranged from 110 to 125 degrees, and wood enough was being (burned to supply a coal-kiln), some might have thought this sounded reassuring; but not long after, we were notified that on account of the amount of work they had on hand, Smith & Anthony Co. would have nothing whatever to do with it. We had been told that the Ventilating and Heating Apparatus of this firm, was in use in eleven towns in New Hampshire, so, thinking that we might perhaps find out how they had been able to warm up with it, we applied to Smith & Anthony Co. for the names of some of those towns, and we were told in reply, that if we wished to inform ourselves of as to the satisfactoriness of their furnaces, we were referred to Chief Wade, Chief of the District Police, whose headquarters were at the State House, Boston.

In fairness, it should be stated that this apparatus was supposed to change the air of the school rooms every twenty minutes, and perhaps it did; but in the winter climate of Conway this hygienic provision has proven to be less indispensable than keeping the children warm.

There are to be two members elected to the School Board at the annual School Meeting. Mrs. Blonin's term of two years ends at that time, and Dr. Buzzell has served the past year by appointment. He was elected for a term of three years—in his absence from the meeting—but immediately sent a declination to the Board, who then appointed Mr. H. B. Fifield to the office. He also declined, and C. W. Wilder, Esq., was appointed, and he declined to serve. In the meantime Dr. Buzzell had been urged to take the place for one year, and finally consented to take the oath of office (which of course expires at the March meeting) before Mr. Wilder.

In the judgment of the School Committee, it has become most desirable that this district should unite with some other town to form a supervisory district, and employ an expert Supervisor to take charge of our schools. At present, not one-fourth of the time that they require is or can be given to them. It is needed not only that a person of the most advanced intelligence, and a knowledge of the most approved methods in instruction, should be employed, but that he should give his whole time to the work.

Respectfully submitted,

C. P. BUZZELL,

ABBIE M. D. BLOUIN,

ELLEN M. LASON,

Respectfully submitted,

S. M. HOBSON, Treas.

AUDITORS' CERTIFICATE.

Conway, N. H., Feb. 24, 1903.

We hereby certify that we have examined the accounts of Library Trustees and Treasurer of the Trustees of Conway for the fiscal year ending Feb. 15, 1903, and find them to be correct, with proper vouchers on file for all amounts paid out by them.

HENRY B. COTTON,

HIRAM H. DOW,

Auditors of Conway.

During the past year we have met some obstacles that will not confront us hereafter. We felt obliged to make some repairs on the library building at Conway Village, in order to protect and preserve the basement and foundation of it. This we did at an expense of ninety-one dollars and sixty-five cents. We also fitted the windows with screens at an expense of forty-two dollars and eleven cents. Still another drain on our finances has been the unprecedented advance in the price of fuel. This subjected us to an extra expense this year of some $80. We have had to pay something over $50 arrearages the past year, so it will be seen that conditions have been rather unfavorable, but we feel sure the conditions will be more favorable. We would recommend the same appropriation as last year. This will give us something over $200 for new books, a sum which we regard as ample. Attention is called to the reports of the treasurer and librarian for information relating to their several departments.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT OF THE CONWAY BRANCH
OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY, FROM JAN.
1, 1902, TO JAN. 1, 1903.

The Library has been open for the exchange of books 105 days. The aggregate circulation for the year has been 5981 volumes, of which 4390 were fiction, 1111 juvenile and the remainder divided between biography, history, travels, religious works and miscellaneous. The largest circulation on any one day was 110, April 5. Cards have been issued to 410 different persons from all parts of the town. Quite a number of the books have been in use a number of years, having been given to the Library by the Library Association, and have to be repaired frequently. Two or three are beyond repair; one has been lost.

From time to time friends of the Library have given books, papers and magazines. From July 1st to October 1st the reading room was open to visitors every afternoon and evening.

When the State Librarian, Mr. Arthur H. Chase, established the Clearing House for magazines, we were enabled through the generosity of friends not only to make quite complete files of several leading magazines for ourselves, but also to send 1096 magazines to Concord. We feel the interest in the Library and reading room is steadily increasing:—many of our young people frequent the reading room, and enjoy the use of the books and magazines.

The Woman's Club from time to time gives proof of their continued interest. January 1, 1902, they gave to the Library 35 volumes of the late books. Recently they have placed in the reading room a fine Webster's International Unabridged Dictionary. An exchange has recently been affected with the Center Conway branch, to enable each branch to have some new reading matter.

New books are needed for circulation, especially for the children and young people, also magazines for the reading room. We trust in some way the needs will be met.

L. H. HAMBLIN,
Librarian.

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CONWAY FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

I herewith submit a report of the circulation of books from the Free Public Library at Center Conway, for the year ending January 1, 1903, giving volumes of fiction, juvenile and miscellaneous, taken from the Library each month.

The following periodicals are subscribed for by the Trustees: Century, Cosmopolitan, Country Life, Harper's, McClure's, Munsey, Literary Digest, Outlook, Review of Reviews, Yonths Companion, Mr. A. C. Kennett presenting us with the Review of Reviews. As we are provided with no convenient reading room, I loan the magazines to individuals, to be returned at the end of one week. The circulation of this kind of reading is large, the usual number loaned each week being 40.

We have received gifts of books from Mrs. B. J. Bachelor and Mrs. Blouin; magazines from Mrs. T. P. Ivy and Mr. C. H. Morton, of Newburyport.

It is gratifying to note the growth in interest, especially among the young. A good foundation is being laid; the future alone may determine whether the Library does aid in making more intelligent citizens.

Very respectfully,

ABBIE M. D. BLOUIN,
Librarian
